A flights record inside the conference schedule is generally the first and most important factor in seeds for the conference tournament.

Then head to head and triangles inside the conference matches including # of sets lost are generally the next factor.

Matches outside the conference schedule are generally only looked at when the above options do not distinguish between individuals/teams.

1S Triangle with R, J, and GH. R beat GH in 2 sets, all other matches were in 3 which puts R ahead of both players. J did not lose in 2, he lost in 3, but GH lost in 2. But he did beat J head to head.

4S R has slightly better scores than GV

4D GH 3-1 with a win over H, H has a win over GV, GV has a win over J. The GH record is low due to returning from injury

5D Low records again: R has win over H, H has a wins over GV and J, J has a win over GV
